

Incoming Wire Instructions

Incoming wire transfers are funds sent from another financial institution to an account at Salal Credit Union (“Salal”). Salal cannot initiate an incoming wire transfer for you; the sender must initiate it with their originating institution.

- Salal Credit Union does not use a “Swift Code” for incoming foreign wires. Inform the sender that Salal accepts wires only through the Federal Reserve Bank. The originating financial institution must use a domestic intermediary bank to get the funds to Salal.
- Salal Credit Union does not charge a fee for incoming wire transfers to personal accounts. Refer to your Product & Fee Disclosure for the incoming wire fee for a business account. The originating institution, and any intermediary institutions, may charge wire fees by deducting their fee from the wired amount.
- Incoming wires received before the daily Federal Reserve cut-off time will be credited to your account the same business day. Incoming wires received after the cut-off time will be processed the next business day.
- If the name and account number provided in the incoming wire via the Federal Reserve Bank do not match what Salal has on file, the wire may be sent back to the originating institution.
